

Rich Griffith, Former TE, Jaguars

Returning for round two of the Pro Football Camp, Rich Griffith enjoyed a 7-season playing career with the New England Patriots and Jacksonville Jaguars as a tight-end and long snapper. While he was catching passes on the field he also received several different humanitarian and leadership awards off-the-field. He received these awards from the NFL and other organizations such as, Fellowship of Christian Athletes “Athlete of the Year”, and the “Byron White Humanitarian Award”. He was also nominated for the NFL “True Value Man of the Year” in 1996. As a 6’5” 260lbs. tight end, Rich’s most productive year came in 1995 where, he caught 16 passes for 243 yards. Rich is currently the Director of Sports and Recreation Ministries at Woodmen Valley Chapel in Colorado Springs. Rich, and his wife, Keri, have three children.

