

Eric Ghiaciuc, C, Bengals

Eric Ghiaciuc, center, 6'4" 302 lbs. could not get enough of the Pro Football Camp last year, so he will be back for round two this year. Eric is known as a tough, athletic competitor who makes the Cincinnati Bengals offensive line an elite unit. During his final year at Central Michigan he started every game for offense that averaged 395.5 yards per contest. In his 2005 rookie season, he played in 5 games and was credited with excellent performances when he stepped in for the injured Rich Braham. Eric's most significant accomplishment in his rookie campaign came during his NFL starting debut in week 5 against the Jacksonville Jaguars. He was recognized for his strong performance against the highly-rated Jaguars defensive tackles as the offense produced 364 yards.

